WE ARE THINKING ABOUT A HEALING TOUR THIS YEAR

Ludlow in Shropshire
 Over looking the Clee hills.

Last year we never managed to fit in a healing tour because of our healing commitments.

Depending on what bookings we receive this year will depend on or where we decide to go, around Cornwall or further afield.

The big problem is we do not have an awning to treat patients in now, through a lot of use and bad weather ruined our old one.

We would find it very hard to use conventional awnings as they take so long to put up.

There are now inflatable awnings that can be put up without stress in minutes, a very good idea, and they are very strong and stable.

COLON & BOWEL CANCER

Patient see's proof of what my doctors are doing

I was very weak & could not get out of bed, my family had to help me out of bed to sit on a chair so Reverend Malcolm could treat me.

After the 1st treatment, I managed to get dressed & get up for awhile, (my sister, a retired nurse, also with cancer, visited me the day after, and I sat up talking to her for 3 hours 20 minutes).

She then booked an appointment with Reverend Malcolm. After the second treatment I could walk around and make myself a drink and sandwich, (and my sister when she visited).

After the 4th treatment, I was outside having a BBQ for our wedding anniversary (including a few drinks).

My family came from all over the country to our party. I have reduced my pain killers to just 2 a day.

When checking my water every day, I had to pass my water through a filter to check for blood, a sign of the cancer growing they told me, I noticed for 3 to 4 days after every treatment I had with you, there was "debris" in my water,

Then it would be back to normal until you next visit and treatment a week later, then there would be "debris" again for 3 to 4 days. This continued during your treatment.

Obviously, your doctors were removing the cancer slowly from my body and passing it through my water.

Jim. Bromsgrove, Worcertershire.

Reverend Malcolm's notes:

I could have treated Jim in his bed if they had have asked me, I have had to treat many patients in their bed who were too ill to get up over the years.

A message from Reverend Malcolm

Dear spiritual seekers,
This month should be the start of summer we hope after a miserable and wet winter, it is strange my guides did not give me a wether prediction this year as they always do ?
Personally I am feeling there will be a nice summer with a few really hot days. I am feeling we should get nice weather going into mid October.
But unusually, my prediction of last year we would have a White Christmas was out.

I have some exciting news, a little while ago a new doctor started working with me, to add to my usual doctors, I shall write an article in Junes news letter about him, also printing a picture of him. He is a very kind and gentle person and I enjoy his company when he is with me treating patients. So look out for the article in next months news letter about Dr * !

SOME OF OUR TOUR LOCATIONS IN THE PAST

We could not manage without an awning, not only because of the extra space, but it is our room where we treat patients in.

If any one or company out there could donate funds to go towards a new awning, or the cost of a new awning, so we can go on tour it would be great.

The size we need will cost us around £1000.

This is the minimum we need before we can even start to consider going on tour again.

Watching a video about a inflatable awning, they can be put up in 5 to 10 minutes without any hard work at all, so we could manage these without problem.

We could manage with just an awning, but there are other equipment that would help un enormously.

A wind generator for electric, a generator for the same, a fixed satellite system.

Even a brand new caravan with modern up to date features would make our trips much more easier for us if we had sufficient funding, but our old caravan is still lovely.

DOG TRACING SYSTEMS THAT DO NOT WORK

We test 2 different products - the second sent us 4 different devices, every one was not fit for purpose

After chasing Pyrenean's for almost 40 years should they escape, we are now too old to run !

So once I knew I had a new Pyrenean Mountain Dog puppy coming, I started looking at tracking devices....

Retrieva,

This is the first we brought after much research, on initial readings I thought should be the best there is, because all the rest were separate devices that you attach to the dog collar, an attachment if you like.

This is a strong rubber collar that can be locked on the dog so a potential thief would find it hard to remove easily, with the tracking device in with the collar.

@ £300 including the first year use is the dearest I found by a long way, @ from £80 a year for the system use, the dearest to use as well.

The problem is, it did not work ! on one occasion I attached it to our 5 bar gate and after 2 hours it still did not connect to a GPS signal, this is more than bad.

We had this for 6 months and in all that time if it worked for 1 month that is all.

On complaining Retrieva did tell me they were having trouble with their network provider, degrading they told me what ever that was. So after 6 months of almost no reliable use, I asked them if they could not supply me with a working device give me a refund, this they did.

So this does show they are a decent company.

I am sorry for their troubles, as although they are very dear to buy and use, if it worked correctly should be one of the best in my opinion.

FOR's:

Complete lockable strong collar and device

AGAINST:

In a 6 month trial it hardly ever worked at all

@ £300 it is the dearest device we found by a long way. (this includes the first years network charge)

@ from £80 a year network charge is also the dearest we found.

If they have sorted out their very big problem I do not know, so I cannot quote if they now work or not ?

This was not so good with the second product.

Tracca as they are called, has been the worst product and the worst company I have ever dealt with in over 50 years of buying things.

All I can say is rubbish complete rubbish !

You can not get any worst service than been supplied no less than 4 different devices, every one not working at all, not fit for purpose.

And they do not want to give me a refund despite their product and service breaks the sales of goods act that is the law.

Not only is the Tracca very inferior and sub standard quality, but the program and or system is the worst I have ever come cross with constant crashes, failures and faults.

The response from the managing director and company is "appalling" to quote the words of another disappointed customer I read on line.

Toby the managing director rang me late one evening in response to my email, several things he told me in his attempt to get my business and money proved to be blunt, lies !

He made many claims that was as far from the truth as it could be, I list some below.

1: They always get back to customers within hours, I waited weeks at times, often having to send additional emails to get a response.

At the time of publishing they have completely ignored my last email, a month ago.

2: The battery has a usage of over a month claimed the MD, (the Tracca web site lists 880 hours, no where near the actual truth).

3: The Tracca will cost less than £1 a week using your own sim, what a laugh, or it would be if it was not so expensive.

Running costs:

With their ongoing problems with the device / programs / system, I RECEIVED A BILL FROM MY NETWORK SUPPLIER FOR £230 IN JUST AROUND 3 WEEKS ?

Their system/app was continually bouncing texts non stop hence my big bill.

If I had not checked my account it would have been hundreds more.

Somewhat different to the £1 a week quoted, even guaranteed by Toby their MD, he even told me they knew about this fault, so not to do anything about this, not even a warning in their instructions, is in my opinion gross incompetence !

Battery performance.

Unit 1 would not even charge.

(they do not even supply a charger, you have to buy your own).

Units 2 and 3 the battery only lasted around 15 hours give or take, so you had to charge it up every night or it would be flat the following dinnertime / afternoon.

THE WORST DOG TRACKING DEVICE AND COMPANY WE HAVE EVER FOUND

Unit 4 would not even charge properly from new, it would go flat the same day in anything after 4 hours !

Somewhat less than their claims of 880 hours on their home page in big letters.

If you mooch around the site, in another place, in much smaller print, claims between 24 to 48 hours if used in tracking mode, the very reason you would but a tracker for !

So their claims on their home page is completely misleading, In my opinion this is very underhanded and deceitful.

Every other tracking device I have looked at tell you very plainly what time you can expect from their products when in use, with no attempts to mislead you.

Tracking ability:

Unit 1 was unserviceable, it would not charge so would not track.

Unit 2 would not track, what good is a tracking devise when it would not track !

Unit 3 would not track, when trying a different setting it started tracking, but it cost me £230 in phone charges in 3 weeks, showing a massive problem with their product and service !

Unit 4 did actually track, but kept switching off as well as crashing, (the others also crashed many times) the only way to get around this was to remove the app from your phone and re install it, not what you could do if you had lost your pet and was in the field trying to find him/her, (Plus you would probably not have the settings with you).

This was the same on 2 different phones so it was not any fault of the phone.

There is also a problem with the attachment clips that attach the Tracca to your collar, they break they are so feeble and weak, Toby the MD told me the clips were “not fit for purpose” (to quote his own words).

Toby told me of all the problems they were experiencing with the programs and such, and seem to be still having.

On top of this, all 4 Tracca's have crashed many times.

The victual fence is as others have mentioned so far out it is a waste of time trying to use it.

With the device crashing, plus the date kept jumping around 18 months in the future which the MD told me was the reason they would not track ?, but he told me they did not know why their devices were doing this ?

So to date, from last August we have not had a Tracca that works right, and with every one we received, we waited longer and even no communication from Tracca despite sending several text and emails.

This only shows one thing, they just do not care.

As all the 4 Tracca's they sent broke the sale of goods act, (a. Not fit for purpose & b. not of merchantable quality), they are breaking the law by refusing to give a refund if asked by the disappointed owner.

If Tracca was working as it should, the nearest time it will track is updates every 15 seconds, a large dog running could go a long way in 15 seconds, also changing direction making it even harder to track your dog.

You really want continuous tracking every second or two like other makes offer.

After been charged £230 in just 3 weeks I could not trust the device by putting my mobile number in it in case it happened again, so I could not use some of its features like the virtual fence.

Customer services,

Initially I did have several talks with Toby the MD, where he openly admitted all the problems they were having, but I would have expected prompt attention, for one he knew we are a charity and if we had good service we would have wrote a good testimonial about their product in our news letters !

But as time went on and constant troubles, the time it took Toby to get back to me got longer and longer, days then weeks, then nothing.

FOR's:

Nothing, total rubbish.

AGAINST: 4 Tracca's supplied all US, not worth buying.

The worst customer services I have ever dealt with, as also listed by others on line.

Refused to refund money, ignoring emails.

My advice would be DO NOT BUY THIS MAKE.

Next month:

We test another product that we hope will work and can trust, if so it has an interesting feature.

NOSTALGIA

Memories from yesteryear

TEDDIES ARE TIMELESS

In our carefree mad courting days of yesteryear, I was always buying Sue Teddy Bears when we went on our holidays.

Here is a photograph of Sue sitting on our Jaguar E-Type on a lonely beach somewhere, holding a white teddy bear, I was always driving down onto beaches as the E-Type was so stable in snow or sand it was safe to do so.

On one occasion, I brought Sue a very big black teddy bear from St Ives when on holiday in Cornwall, we had a job to fit them both in when going back to the tent, then when going home after a great time.

Sue had to get into the E-Type first, then I had to push the massive black teddy in through the small door for her to hold sitting on her lap while driving home, we did get some strange looks on our way !

Left, another photo at another camp, but this time in our mini van, (what a comedown), we only used this on a local camp as you could get more camping gear in it, when using the E-Type we always had our boat with us, or only did lightweight camping, we had different tents for different occasions.

Another teddy on the bonnet...

The photograph was probably taken with a Cannon 35mm SLR camera.

ARE THERE ANY COURIER COMPANIES OUT THERE YOU CAN TRUST ?

We have received unacceptable service from 2 different courier companies this last 4 months, My Hermes, and UK mail.

December I placed an order with Dunhelm, the order was not delivered.

According to My Hermes, the order had been delivered and a signature obtained ?

No proof of this was supplied, luckily Dunhelm must be a reputable company as they refunded my money straight away, and sent me a £10 gift voucher, so I went to their nearest shop in Plymouth and brought the goods from there.

A second order that should have come by my Hermes, was quite last delivered.

Last month another order, (all through different suppliers), also was not delivered, but My Hermers claim to have delivered the parcel ?

There is no problem where we live and receive deliveries from many couriers with out any problem.

This last undelivered order through my Hermes, was sent out again through another courier company, UK Mail....

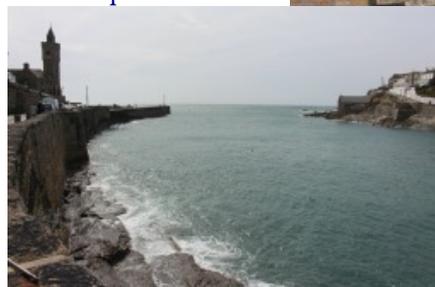

This also did not arrive ?, On ringing UK mail direct, they told me they could not find the address in HARROW ?
The other side of the country Middex. . . . Unbelievable !

I have the correct address on the order I made, so who made such a "cock up", the seller or the courier I do not know.

The trouble is when buying stuff mostly the company do not say what couriers they use or I would not buy from any company that uses these couriers.
